Sixty Protestant Churches Launch Special Services Sunday and Well Filled Auditoriums Greet Speakers

The winning of souls into the king-dom started with the first revival ser-vice in a number of Memphis churches engaged in the simultaneous evangel-istic campaign. At least a score of per-sons signified their intention of unit-ing with the church Sunday at the various churches engaged in the great two weeks' campaign that will close Easter Sunday.

Easter Sunday.

Sixty Protestant churches launched their special services Sunday, and well-filled auditoriums greeted the pastors or evangelists.

About 35 eyangelists or visiting ministers from other towns are assisting the local ministers in conducting the nettings, but many of the pastors will be their own prachium. Some of the

SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. BICKFORD PROVES SHOCK TO MANY FRIENDS

One work after he entered an engagement as interlocutor of "The Joliles of 1929." Shrine minstrels. Dr. Harry E. Bickford, aged 12, well-known Memphis physician, died at 2:49 o'ciock Monday morning at Gartly-Ramsay hospital. Dr. Bickford had been ill only five days. No funeral arrangements had been made Monday pending word from a brother, Capt. Alfred Bickford, coming here from Seattle, Wash. It is considered probable that he will be buried in the East, either in New York or New Hampshire.

Dr. Bickford was taken suddenly ill Wednesday. On Friday he was taken from his home, 1809 Linden avenue, to the hospital, where an operation was performed Saurday. Sunday double pneumonia developed, but attaches informed friends Sunday that hope for his ultimate recovery was held. He succumbed to a complication of discases augmented by pneumonia.

When the Shrine minstrels opened one week ago Monday night Dr. Bickford was seated as middleman and occupied that position for two performances. He first complained after the Tuesday night show.

Born in New Hampsbire, Dr. Bickford came to Memphis about 1911. He accepted a position as a singer here under Charles E. McElravy, then in charge of the Majestic motion picture theaters. For a while he employed his vocal talents to aid in defraying expenses for a medical education, Later he was a member of several local church choirs. His first appearsance in the Shrine minstrels was in 1917.

Active in charitable campaigns and war work, Dr. Bickford. also occupied the position as medical examiner for the U. S. Marine corps. Many applicants at the local recruiting station who fought and fell in France were pussed by Dr. Bickford.

wives, much may be accomplished.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The official copy of the treaty of Versailles, which President Wilson, brought from Paris and personally delivered to the senate, and which was returned to the White House Saturday, is again in the president's possession. Secretary Tumulty received the treaty from George A. Sanderson, secretary of the senate, and delivered it to Mr. Wilson.

No word came from the White House today as to the president's probable course with regard to the treaty, since the senate had refused four times to ratify it.

LOCAL INDUSTRIAL CENSUS TO BE TAKEN

John W. Patton, of the department of commerce, Washington, D. C., has arrived in Memphis to supervise the compiling of an industrial census and statistics of manufactories in the Memphis district. An assistant will be appointed within a short time.

In speaking of the proposed survey, Mr. Patton said it is a very important one and will represent the city's manfacturing wealth in government reports for the next five years. Manufacturers are urged by Mr. Patton to give fullest co-operation to the government in collecting these statistics.

He claims that the information asked for is taken with the understanding it is to be kept strictly confidential and within the department. No reports or statistics for less than city and county units will be made public.
